1. A local newspaper has recently become more interested in reporting sensational stories at the expense of more serious news. Write a letter to the editor expressing your concerns.
  2. You are the chief organiser of an important club or activity at your school. As you are graduating at the end of this school year, you wish to explain clearly to your successor what your duties involve. Write a detailed memo, with timelines, of what has to be done next year to ensure the continued success of the group.
  3. A childhood friend moved away from your home town a few years ago. In a recent letter the friend asked you if any major changes or developments have taken place since moving away. Write a reply mentioning the places and landmarks familiar to you both, giving details of what has changed and what remains the same.
  4. As a senior student you have been asked by the editor of the school newspaper to write an article entitled “Marks Aren’t Everything!” The article should focus on the total experience of school life, and should include advice to younger students on how to make the most of their time at school. Write the article.
  5. You have just had your first experience of trying a new sport or activity. This attempt did not go as well as you would have liked, but you enjoyed yourself in the company of supportive friends. Write a lively account of your day for possible inclusion in the school magazine.
  6. A travel company is offering an all-inclusive holiday anywhere in the world as the first prize in a contest called “My Dream Vacation.” Write your entry.
